EDITORIAL

If some of you did not receive an answer to your mail it was because I have been out to Ohio and Indiana attending their state tournaments. But it won't be long now before I will be back in the groove again. Am making up the format for this month while traveling, so if I made any omissions, excuse it please.

One thing I can't omit and that is the fact that this issue begins the seventh year of publication of The Horseshoe Pitcher without missing a month! All this was due to the subscribers, advertisers and the assistant editor, Norman Compton. Thanks to you all—Jake.

THE MORNING AFTER

The tournament, that is!

All checked out of El Rancho Murray—we're the last ones to leave.

Think we'll go over to the Park and finish up the details—should be cool and pleasant there.

Golly! What a sad sight. Empty courts—except for a few Junior boys tossing some shoes, determination written on their faces—determination to get that Junior trophy next year.

Empty bleachers—and just last night they were crammed to overflowing with people watching a great exhibition of Horseshoe pitching.

Empty tent—except for the table and a few chairs—ah well, to work, to work. First, get the results in order to send to Jake—write out the minutes of the Convention and in doing all that, we begin to think back over the past week. All in all—it was a wonderful tournament—looked a little rugged at the beginning, but as usual, things began to iron out and everyone settled down to the business at hand.

The entry was lower this year than usual. We missed some of the good old regular faces—but it was nice seeing our old friends and meeting some new ones. We were especially glad to have the Canadian boys, Stan Dahl, Bob McCann, and Stan Fritz with us during our tournament. The tournament committee extended them courtesy membership cards to the N.H.P.A.

It was good to see Jim Lecky of Arizona again, and to meet Mrs. Lecky. It had been a long, long time. The old virus bug caught up with Jim, however, preventing his entering the tournament. He would have been a definite threat in there. He was a little too liberal with the bug, however, and passed it on to Fernando the second day of the tournament. Good old penicillin kept him on his feet.

Our new method of play had its good points and bad points. As a whole, it wasn't accepted by the pitchers mainly because the majority of the players want to play more games. It did make a fine show for the spectators, however.

That night when the six men—Zimmerman, Isais, Jones, Allen, Steinfeldt, and Dean had their round robin, was the finest exhibition of Horseshoe Pitching that has ever been seen at one time. Each game was a thriller.

Our Queen, Darlene Barker, was another beauty this year. The Junior Chamber of Commerce was on hand with the "snack shack" again and were generous as usual with their tickets good for eats and drinks. The Salt Lake County men were busy all the time making things comfortable for us and keeping the courts in excellent shape.

Pete Harman and his staff gave (and I do mean gave) us a wonderful banquet and lovely day at Saratoga Springs.

The "B" Class and women pitched their tournaments at the same time in the late afternoon just ahead of the "A" tournament. The Juniors pitched Monday and Tuesday mornings and interest is picking up with that group.

Several of the pitchers and ladies appeared on both television and radio shows, which helped greatly in our publicity.

Associated Press and United Press were swamped with requests for news about the tournament, which shows all of your cards and letters to your newspapers brought results.

We had a float in the parade again this year. The parade is part of the celebration which Utah has every year commemorating the entrance of the Mormons into that state.

Whoops! There comes the wind. Hold on to the papers! Glad the tournament is over.

Had a little show of weather this year. Monday, the rains came. Courts were pretty sloppy along about pitching time. Shades of Des Moines! Out came the gasoline; we poured it on the courts and burned them off. There was quite a bit of water on the cement, too, which might have caused the pitchers to slip around a bit, so "Johnny on the Spot Pete Harman" made a call and out came mops and wringers and in no time at all, pitching went on as usual. It was a late start, but the crowd stayed with us.

Well, better stop this reminiscing and get to work or we'll be here all day. It really was a good tournament!

Harrison Maitlen, a talented young pitcher from Berne, Indiana, annexed top honors in the Northern Indiana Horseshoe Tournament held at City Park in Wabash, August 14 and 15.

The tournament was the first of its kind in the Hoosier state and was sponsored by the local club which has decided to make it an annual affair since the initial meet was so successful. A total of 47 players entered the meet from 29 different northern Indiana cities and towns. Widespread rain squalls on the final day of the qualifying round cut the number of entries considerably although pitching conditions at the tourney site were ideal.

The winners in each of five classes plus the Class A runner-up received trophies. Additional prizes included several pairs of regulation pitching shoes, five one year subscriptions to The Horseshoe Pitcher, and fifteen merchandise prizes given by Wabash business firms.

Maitlen, in addition to winning the meet without the loss of a game, led the 100 shoe qualifying round and posted the best single game performance when he hit for a ringer percentage of 78.9. He hails from Adams County which has a 10 city league with more than 100 players participating.

Class B ended in a three way deadlock with Don Owens of Summitville winning a playoff. Class E also needed a playoff to decide honors which eventually went to Jim Johnson, a 20 year old player from Decatur.

GOOD LUCK EMBLEMS

By CHARLES S. GERRISH

Ever hear of Saint Dunstan?—Besides being the Archbishop of Canterbury in the 900's, he was something of a smithy, and had a legendary hand in the concept of the horseshoe being lucky. He worked the forge and had skill with the metals. Troubled with a famous temptation by the Devil one day, St. Dunstan is said to have tweaked the Tempter's nose so hard with red-hot tongs that the wicked one gave up his baneful attempt.

On another day the Foul Field with feet of a horse sought the skill of St. Dunstan to have his hoofs shod, to aid him over his devious ways, so the story goes. St. Dunstan recognized Lucifer with the loose shoes, and artfully maneuvered the Evil One around so to fasten him to a wall with a strong chain. Then the anvil ringer applied such rigorous treatment to a hoof that the Horned Demon howled in pain and begged for mercy. St. Dunstan would not cease the torment until his Satanic majesty promised he would never enter any place where a horseshoe is in display. So that's a reason why the horseshoe is an emblem of good luck.

HORSESHOE PUBLICITY IN NEW YORK CITY

Sports Editor, New York Times, New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

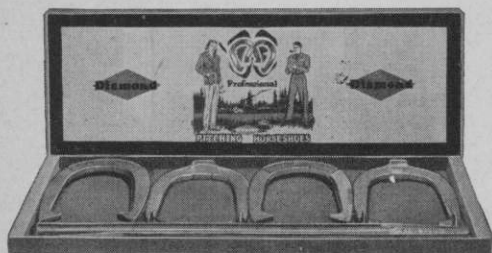

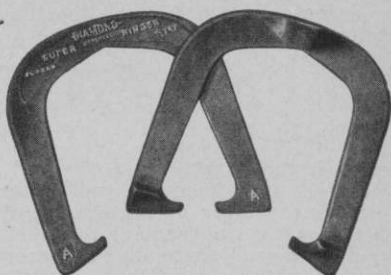

I am constrained to say that your masthead slogan "All the News That's Fit to Print" evidently indicates that in your opinion the results of a national tournament in a sport played by millions of Americans . . . is not fit to print!

I refer to the National Horseshoe Pitching Tournament, July 22-29, at Murray, Utah. I called the Sports Desk of your paper at the close of the tournament to ask why no results were printed. The reply was that A.P. sent nothing over the wires. A call to A.P. verified the fact that more material than ever before was sent out, so much that their editors were trying to hold it down.

In and around New York City there are dozens of horseshoe clubs with hundreds of members in each, and thousands of fans following their activities. The Times rarely prints any news on such matches, but devotes whole pages to yachting, squash, chess, etc. It has been said that the Times doesn't care about circulation since it bases itself on high-brow or snob appeal, leaving all reports on people's activities to such rags as the News and Mirror. Is this true?

Since your Sports Page does not indulge in a "voice of the readers" section, would you favor me with a personal reply?

C. von der Lancken, Former Vice President,
National Horseshoe Pitchers Association

THE REPLY

Dear Mr. von der Lancken:

This is in response to your letter of August 3.

It is a matter of regret that it was not possible for us to carry reports on the tournament to which you refer. Due to the very heavy pressure on our space, it was necessary to omit stories of that competition as well as a number of other events to which we would like to have given coverage.

Thank you for your interest in writing to us.
